Award Bid on $525,000 Project Here

May Ask Vote On $225,000 Sewage Plant

The Village of Antioch took a giant step forward in getting its ambitious $525,000 disposal-sewer construction project off the ground in action taken at Tuesday's meeting of trustees.

The board unanimously voted to accept the bid of 3.95 interest on general obligation bonds and 4.47 on revenue bonds submitted jointly by the firms of Benjamin & Land and M. B. Vick Co.

Although details of the financing remain to be worked out, Village President Murrill Cunningham stated that current thinking by the board calls for a referendum on general obligation bonds in the amount of $225,000 to cover cost of constructing a disposal plant.

The $300,000 for construction and rehabilitation of certain sewers and mains in north and south sections of the village would be financed through revenue bonds.

General obligation bonds in the amount of $225,000 at the 3.95 rate accepted, if passed in referendum, means bond retirement through taxes. Revenue bonds, totaling $300,000 for sewer and water mains, would be defrayed from revenue derived from sewer and water collections.

The meeting was not without its less serious moments.

Murrill Cunningham, chagrined at protests of representatives of various bonding houses over a request by Benjamin and Lang that it be allowed to reconsider an earlier bid and submit a new one, declared all bids nullified, ordered the houses to submit new ones, and cleared them from the hall until they had complied.

Benjamin and Lang had submitted bids several weeks earlier than other houses. Because of fluctuations in the bond market it asked that it be allowed to change its bid. This caused the uproar from members of rival houses, resulting in President Cunningham's action.

On recall of bonding representatives, Benjamin and Lang, jointly with M. B. Vick & Co., was low with 3.95 general obligation and 4.47 revenue.

Unsuccessful bidders were Ballman and Main jointly with H. W. Wilson & Co. and Scott Kagle, 4.10 general, 4.55 revenue; Barcus & Kindred jointly with Benjamin Lewis Co., general 4.15, revenue 4.65.

After some hasty figuring, one observer opined President Cunningham's insistence on new bids will save the village some 40,000, as last night's successful bid was lower than the one submitted previously by Benjamin & Lang, which, up until last night's action, seems to be in favor.

The proposed $225,000 disposal plant includes development of an activated sludge type sewage disposal system incorporating the trickling system now in use.

The $300,000 sewer project would include construction on Victoria and Lake Street sewers on the south side, work on North Main Street sewers and additions to the system now servicing Parkway and Highland Avenue on the north side.

But village trustees, all on hand for last night's meeting, were in no mood for dabbling. They ordered notice to be served on Willowdale Dairy that disposal to its plant would be discontinued in 10 days if past due monies owed the village were not forthcoming. The city gives special disposal services to the dairy because of the nature of creamery waste, for which it charges the firm $310 per quarter. The firm allegedly is about $1,000 in arrears.

The board also approved the appointment of Harry Fruik, 318 Park Ave., as an active member of the fire department.

The board worked with clocklike precision Tuesday, and adjourned at approximately 9:30.

What Happens If Conference Expands to 10?

The incorporation of two more schools into the Northwest Suburban Conference, if approved at a meeting of high school principals yesterday, will pose some problems, but none that are insurmountable, according to school and athletic officials.

Woodstock and Cary are up for admittance to the conference, a proposal which meets with approval of the AHS board.

Several problems of a 10-team conference immediately come to mind:

1—With a basketball schedule limited to 18 games plus two tournaments, a team must drop all practice games if it wishes to meet the other nine teams in the league.

2—With football held to eight games, a full schedule means that one school still hasn't met all other conference teams.

3—Cary and Woodstock mean additional travel.

Let's take a look at the above.

Limitation to 18 games by the Illinois High School Association does hold down non-conference games, means teams would have to jump into a league schedule initially. Alternative would be to divide the league into two divisions, with the winner of one meeting the winner of another or boost allowable games to 20 or more.

For football, either increasing the game schedule to 9 or more or a two division league are the only answers. The Big 10 has set the pattern here.

Travel—No problem for Antioch as it means the longest distance, school-to-school, is the 30 miles to Woodstock, a mere jaunt these days. Then, too, weekend scheduling means that players can assemble earlier and travel later than during the week days.

On the other side of the coin. It's inevitable that a conference shake-up will come sooner or later. With the population booming, some areas growing, others losing or remaining relatively stable, change must come. Woodstock has fallen behind its conference in growth and just doesn't have the school population to keep up to par with the larger schools. The same situation could arise with Antioch or any other conference school.

Cary is a new school, currently has no conference affiliation. It deserves a home whether it be in this conference or any other. More new schools will be built. Conferences will be asked to open the door, or new conferences will be formed.

These reasons, then, are among those which influenced the board to direct A. L. Dittman, principal, to vote "yes" for conference expansion.

Mailman's Christmas Shot Full of Holes

TREVOR, Wis.—A Trevor rural mailman is still nursing the wounded feelings he suffered this Christmas at the hands of some low caliber vandals.

Walter Lennox worked 13 hours a day in the pre-holiday period to dispense Christmas cheer in the form of greeting cards.

His shattering reward, on Christmas Day, was in his back yard, where he discovered five bullet holes in the rear window of his second car.

He figures the damage was done while his wife was in the hospital and he was at work on his mail route.

Will Murphy Stall or Not If Dems Win Speakership?

Whether State Rep. W. J. Murphy (Rep.—Antioch) would go through with his announced plan to stage a day-to-day filibuster if a Democrat were elected as House Speaker today (Wednesday) remains to be seen.

The House convened today with the Republicans holding a one-man majority, a fact which Rep. Murphy is determined should give them the post of speaker.

The Antioch legislator made his threat during a recent furor over which party would name the speaker and hold the committee chairmanships.

The Democrats are said to be backing State Rep. Paul Powell, Vienna Democrat of "I smell the meat 'a cookin'" fame and speaker in the last session when Democrats held a majority in the house.

GOP front runners for the post are State Rep. William E. Pollack, Chicago, minority whip in 1959; Warren L. Wood, Plainfield, GOP leader last time and former speaker; Marion E. Burks, Evanston and Walter Reum, Oak Park.

Murphy had earlier announced he was a candidate for the post, but now states he did so only to use his candidacy as "trading weapon." He backs Pollack for the speakership,

"because he stood up in the last session, when the House was Democrat controlled, and fought them to a standstill."

Murphy charged the Democrats with tampering with the ballot boxes last Nov. 8 and indicated his belief that out and out vote thefts were involved.

Murphy promised the filibuster would be carried on by him and his colleagues the full six months of the session if necessary to block Democrat action if a GOP speaker is not elected. He said that if necessary he would demand that every bill be read in full to the House, as allowed by the state constitution. Current practice is for the number and title of bills only to be read.

If Murphy goes through with that threat, observers say, he'll filibuster for more than six months without having to say a word, bills being as wordy as they are.

In an authored article on page 2, State Senator Robert McClary reports on the significance of the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives, and why each party will go out to fill this important legislative post.

ATHS Musicians To Attend Band Camp Aug. 13-18

Some 150 members and candidates for the high school bands and chorus will attend a five-day summer camp, Aug. 13-18, under plans now being worked out by Joseph Rush, head of the music department.

Rush, who appeared before members of the high school district school board Nov. 22 with his initial proposal, was given the go-ahead in action taken last week.

East Bay Camp, Lake Bloomington, downstate, is a non-profit organization chartered by the state to provide year-around service as a church camp, youth retreat and music camp, according to Rush. Facilities are available for rehearsals and concerts, and supervised recreation is part of the normal program. The camp provides registered nurses and lifeguards under terms of the contract.

As outlined by Rush, total cost for the five-day camp for 150 students would approximate $2,800. Cost per student would be $18 for the entire period. Of this, the Music Association will pay approximately $10 per student, leaving each student to pay a maximum of $8 for the five-day period.

The Association is raising the necessary funds through various enterprises, one of which is the "Musical Showboat" scheduled this Friday and Saturday.

The high school music director feels the camp will result in improved band and choral units for the high school because:

1 - Allows participation by a greater number of students than normally take advantage of the previous program of 24 hours of instruction over the summer.

2 - Provides the choir with a period of summer preparation for the first time.

3 - Allows a period of concentrated rehearsals in preparation for the busy fall season.

4 - Gives the director a better opportunity to observe candidates in action in order to make selections for A and B band groups. Gives choir candidates a thorough tryout period.

5 - Should bring band and choir performance up to a point not previously achieved until well into the school year.

6 - Contribute to a sense of spirit de corps by members through their associations at camp.

The only expense to the school, Rush pointed out, would be that of transportation. He revealed that of 134 families polled by mail on the project, 112 had responded favorably. Chaperones would be included, he pointed out. A leader for the choir was also accompany the group.

Eligible for the summer camp would be incoming freshmen and graduating seniors, Rush said.

Meanwhile, dance band members were currently preparing for their second contest, Feb. 4, at Oaklawn High School, Chicago. The contest is open to all high schools within 75 miles of Chicago. Antioch ranked 6th of 25 units in last year's contest.

The Music Association has booked the DePauw University concert band for an appearance here March 27.

Plan Youth Center in Area

LAKES REGION, Wis.—Plans for a Youth Center to serve the Lakes Region area are being worked out by a group of interested citizens and clergymen.

Sven Andersen of Bristol, co-chairman of the group promoting the idea, said the center would serve the Wilmet, Trevor, Salem, Bristol and Antioch (Ill.) areas.

Andersen said the group hopes the center will provide ample facilities for bowling, indoor swimming, basketball and gymnastics, dramatics, machine shop, woodworking shop, crafts and meetings.

The center is proposed as a non-profit, non-denominational project, Andersen added.

Pastors and organization chairmen are considering a unique floor plan for the center, as proposed by two young men of the area, Gene Wierzgac of Salem and Dave Andersen of Bristol. Their plan is for a hexagon shaped structure built around a gymnasium.

The group held its first meeting last week at the Lake Shangri-La Woodlands Association Community Center, and plans to hold another session within a few weeks.

A tentative location for the center is under study.

Help is needed from people interested in the youth of the area, Andersen said. He urged them to contact their individual pastors.

It's Time For A Moratorium

There isn't much this column can add to the millions of words sounded anent the nation's calamitous casualty toll on the highways.

An aircraft crashes - 15, 20 or more die, or as in the case of the recent crash over New York City, more than 120 lives are snuffed out in one tragic instant.

The result - inquiries, headlines, an event of such tragic importance as to rank in news value with the biggest stories of the year.

Yet, such crashes are insignificant when compared to the warfare that took place on the nation's highways over the holiday weekends. 488 were slaughtered on the highways over the three-day Christmas weekend; another 318 lives were snuffed out over the New Year's weekend, with the toll mounting at this writing... a total of 806 lives lost in six days. Let the airlines top that.

However, this isn't too much above the average and probably doesn't warrant screaming headlines... because every weekend of the year motorists manage to kill off an average of more than 200. In fact, the average for every three-day weekend throughout the year is 293.

But there seems to be nothing particularly startling to death on some backroad in Lake County, a fatal crash in Iowa in the lonely night, the screams of a dying motorist on a blazing tollway in Pennsylvania... at least not to those other than the immediate families concerned. For we seem to continue mangling each other with our cars at an annual rate that makes the 35,000 American deaths in three years of fighting in Korea seem like a back-alley brawl by comparison.

Courthouse Notebook -

BY LOU DURKIN

Garry Moore's weekly television show has a popular feature called "That Wonderful Year" in which he stirs memories and nostalgia through the presentation of songs popular in a particular year and recalls highlights of the period, but we would like to reverse the format and make predictions about That Wonderful Year, 1961, in Lake County.

Durkin

Lake County is on the threshold of some monumental changes and some equally monumental resistance to changes that should develop clashes that will decide the future of the county for the next 20 years.

One of the big changes we see for the coming year is a breakthrough by the Democrats in Lake County in county office. Of course the office will be that of Justice of the Peace in one of the five judicial districts established under the revised justice of the peace act.

The Democrats will accomplish this by nominating just one candidate in each district while the Republicans are nominating two and some disgruntled and disappointed candidates are running as independents.

The coming year will see the Democrats growing in strength in Lake County as Gov. Otto Kerner pours patronage into the area to give the Demo organization here some real strength.

Delegates from the western part of the county to the Republican convention to select a nominee for the Circuit Judge post will insist on a candidate from their area, but will neglect to submit a candidate they can all get behind and the nomination will go to Probate Judge Thomas J. Moran, who will go on to win the election on April 4.

Somewhere along the line the Illinois General Assembly will realign the Congressional Districts and Lake County will become the dog that wags the tail in the new district after generations of being secondary to Cook County areas.

State Representative Robert E. Coulson will no doubt be a candidate for the new Congress post and half the North Shore area commuters will be suggested as possible candidates to represent an area in which they sleep now and then.

At least two Republican state representatives will switch over to vote for a Democrat for Speaker of the House and State Representative W. J. Murphy will charge fraud, theft, power politics, and then accept the inevitable without staging a six-month filibuster.

There will be considerable oratory about the new courthouse and its location with renewed efforts to move the county building off Courthouse Square, but plans will proceed, albeit slowly, for the eventual construction at the present site.

There will be plans, but nary a spade of dirt will be turned. The Lake County Forest Preserve District will become a reality with the acquisition of some property and two weeks later there will be scandalized charges that the areas are being used for beer parties and they are attracting undesirable elements to the area.

These outries will die down and by the end of the year people will be condemning the county board for not taking steps sooner to protect some of the county for recreation purposes for future generations.

A new county finance director will be appointed with so many restrictions on his activities placed there by supervisors who are jealous of their rights that he won't be able to function properly and there will be screams of anguish when the new tax bills come out with more increases.

The special committee to study the feasibility of a county Public Works Commission will submit a report to the county board and it will be accepted and placed on file along with hundreds of other special surveys and studies.

And Lake County racing fans will be pulling for a Lake County raised thoroughbred to win the Kentucky Derby and give new impetus to the growing breeding industry in Lake County.

Our entry won't make it this year, but within two or three years one of our horses will capture the Blanket of Roses.

Senator Bares Facts Behind Battle Over House Speaker

By State Senator Robert McClary
Republican—Lake Bluff, Ill.

The opening session of the 72nd Illinois General Assembly has been highlighted by a struggle for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives. The significance of this contest can be grasped only if the extreme power of the office of speaker is understood. Historically, the Speaker under the British system was a person designated to speak for the members of parliament. Today, the Speaker of the House rarely "speaks" except in his capacity as presiding officer of the House of Representatives. But, in contrast to the very limited authority of the early parliamentary speaker, the Speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives is the virtual dictator of that body.

The newly named Speaker will select the chairmen and entire membership of all House Committees. The speaker will personally decide to which Committees bills are to be assigned. He will decide, without restriction, when bills are to be called. Indeed, if he should determine that a bill shall not be called—for any reason—there is little chance of overcoming his individual decision. The Speaker decides who is to be recognized for purposes of addressing the assemblage—and a willful Speaker could defeat the plans of a well meaning representative by simply refusing to let him be heard.

In sharp contrast to the almost unlimited authority of the Speaker of the House, the Lieutenant Governor (who presides over the State Senate) is primarily a presiding officer who cooperates with the majority and minority leaders of the Senate. These leaders of the Senate (Senator Arthur J. Blidwill for the Republicans and Senator Donald J. O'Brien for the Democrats) decide what bills are to be called, and who is to be recognized. A special Committee on Assignment of Bills determines to which Committees bills are to be assigned. A Committee on Committees names the chairmen and members of the respective Senate Committees. While the Speaker of the House may vote on every bill, the Lieutenant Governor votes only in the event of a tie.

Hence, the immense power of the Speaker of the House explains the reason for the keen interest in that office. Selfish use of the power has been unusual in recent years, and Rep. Warren Wood, Rep. Paul Powell and other former speakers have exercised their vast authority with discretion and restraint. Still, the power is present, and its effect on legislation cannot be overestimated.

This article, the first of a series for this current session of the Illinois General Assembly will be supplemented during each of the weekly sessions until the adjournment on June 30. The effect will be to give perspective and background to our state's legislative work and to discuss—in depth—the broad issues confronting our state's lawmakers.

The full significance and thinking behind State Rep. Murphy's threat to stage a day-to-day filibuster if a Democrat is elected to House Speaker (page 1) is revealed by Sen. McClary in this brief rundown of the critical post and its influence in legislation.

Also present was Mrs. Garvin's sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson of Waukegan. It was the Garvin family who won the $100 reward from the Chicago Tribune a few months back for their letter on their family's favorite meal. In the letter Mrs. Garvin described all the delicacies prepared for their annual Christmas Eve smorgasbord, among them being homemade pickled herring, Swedish meatballs, baked ham, baked seafood, shrimp souffle, variety of cheeses, and homemade cookies and cake. Many of the recipes used for the festive occasion were old Swedish recipes handed down from mother to daughter for generations in Mrs. Garvin's family.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gann and family, Deep Lake Rd., were in Booneville, Miss., for Christmas visiting Mrs. Gann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flake Eaton, Little Timmy Gann, age 4½, proudly states that he was so good all year Santa found him even in Mississippi this year.

The Ray Jensen family, the Edward Robinson family, Ernest Erickson, and Mr. Erickson, Sr., all of Lake St., and also Mrs. Eleanor Jensen of Pine St., visited Mr. and Mrs. Mancel Wightman of Grayslake for a gala Christmas, Monday.

Among those present were Mrs. Spilchal's mother, Mrs. John Katrba of Cicero, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Zobel of Cicero, Mr. and Mrs. J. Salerno and five children of Mundelein, Mr. and Mrs. John Endler of Chicago, and Miss Gertrude Thelen, Hickory St., Crooked Lake Oaks.

Mrs. Joseph (Shirley) Flaherty, Jr., and children paid a surprise visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Belter, Elm St., during the week. The Flaherty's recently moved from Crooked Lake Oaks to Lansing, Mich.

Who Pays For $23.2 Million Bong Fiasco? Who, But You

Uncle Sam—meaning us taxpayers—is out $23.2 million as a result of the Bong Air Force Base fiasco, the federal government has announced.

The Department of Resource Development said the new figure, obtained from the Corps of Engineers, doesn't include the cost of base termination work and termination settlement. These costs have not been estimated.

The department said construction of buildings, utilities and other improvements cost about $21.6 million and the tab for land improvement was $1.6 million.

The government now owns 5,533 acres at the abandoned base.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson has named a state commission to formulate plans for buying the site and determining what the state will use it for. The federal General Services Administration (GSA) is now developing an over-all price for the entire tract.

David Carley, director of the state resource agency, has asked the GSA to establish a fair market value for the base property. Gov. Nelson has indicated the state wants to buy the entire base site if it can obtain the necessary funds.

"If the GSA price is right," Carley said, "and we can get the money, we'll buy the complete package."

If funds aren't available for the entire tract, Carley said, the state surplus development commission would attempt to purchase certain parcels.

To buy this land, the surplus property commission probably would form a non-profit corporation that would finance purchase through a bond issue.

It's That Time Again — Tax Filing Period Nears

The federal income tax filing period begins next week, Harold R. All, director of the Chicago District of Internal Revenue Service, reminded taxpayers today. Every citizen or resident of the United States, including minor children, who had a gross income of $600 or more in 1960, must file a Federal income tax return. If the taxpayer is 65 or over on Jan. 1, 1961, he or she is not required to file unless his or her gross income in 1960 was at least $1,200.

"I urge all taxpayers to file their returns as soon as possible after Jan. 1," said Mr. All. "By doing so, they help themselves and they help us. If they have a tax refund coming, they will receive it sooner. Early filing also helps to even out our workload." The filing deadline this year is Monday, April 17, 1961, because April 15 falls on a Saturday.

Taxpayers of Lake County should file their returns with the District

Director of Internal Revenue, 22 W. Madison St., Chicago 2, Illinois.

The Internal Revenue Service will offer telephone assistance, individual assistance at local offices, and income tax information through newspapers, radio and television.

Expanded telephone service will begin on Tuesday, Jan. 3, and will be maintained through April 17. As in the past years, a staff of experts will be assigned to answer federal tax questions relating to the individual return. Telephone assistance in Chicago may be obtained by calling Dearborn 2-4500 and asking for "Tax Information."

County residents can also receive tax assistance by contacting the branch office at 325 W. Washington St., Waukegan, phone Ontario 2-5355.

In Chicago, individual help will be available from 8:30 to 5:00 p.m. each Monday through Friday at Room 3, U. S. Courthouse, Adams and Dearborn Streets.

39 Illinois Communities Open Arms to Industry

At least 39 localities in Illinois are prepared to offer some sort of financial assistance to prospective industry.

This was revealed in a statewide survey of community industrial development financing programs, conducted recently by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

In announcing findings of the survey, Chamber President Marc A. Buetell said a total of 76 responses were received. Thirty-nine local groups reported some sort of financing plan, said Buetell, who is president of Ideal Industries, Inc., Sycamore.

"It is safe to assume that many other communities have locally-sponsored industrial development financing plans but neglected to report on them," he added.

Major findings and conclusions of the survey:

—Local supplemental financing efforts designed to attract new industry to a community vary widely. They range from small loans at current interest rates to outright gifts to cover part or all of the cost of such items as land, buildings, machinery or moving expenses. Between these extremes are various programs or loans or other aids to help new industry during its early life in a community.

—Most communities engaging in this activity offer loans on very liberal terms; a smaller number offer outright gifts. First and second mortgages seem to be the most frequently used form of security for loans. Interest rates vary considerably, but 5 to 6 per cent seems to be the range most frequently reported.

—Money for industrial development loans and gifts is raised in many ways, including donations, sale of stock in profit or non-profit corporations, receipts from municipal sales tax levies and profits from local community endeavors, such as centennial celebrations.

—Industrial development corporations, generally follow the pattern established by the Danville plan. This program, known as New Industries, Inc., has served as a model plan over the years throughout the Midwest.

—Informal arrangements for securing money to loan or give to new industry is more difficult to pin down. Many localities indicate they can raise money on short notice by popular subscription. Past experience of a few communities indicates this can be done.

Some form of financial inducement to new industry can be found in communities of all sizes, in all parts of the state. The most enthusiastic boosters of such efforts seem to be concentrated in smaller or medium-sized communities which are in need of new industrial payrolls. The ability to raise money for such purposes tends to vary inversely with the level of prosperity in a community.

—Most communities which have programs in operation consider them useful in luring new plants. Many point to a loan or gift offered by local interests as being already responsible for their success in securing a specific industry.

Vets Advised to Press Legitimate Service Claims

Applications for the Illinois Korean Veterans' Compensation Benefit are still being received at the rate of approximately 200 per week, Ralph B. Johnson, Administrator of the Illinois Veterans Commission, stated today.

Johnson recalled that the first applications for the Korean Benefit were available on Nov. 2, 1959. Since that date a total of 90,300 claims have been filed by living veterans and 2,750 claims by beneficiaries of the deceased Korean veteran.

More than 80,200 claims of the living and 2,300 claims from beneficiaries have been paid. At one time there were more than 7,500 irregular claims in the files awaiting additional supporting evidence. The irregularities consisted principally of lack of sufficient evidence to prove residence in the state for a period of at least 12 months immediately prior to entering active duty in the Armed Forces and failure to submit proof of entitlement to the Korean Service Medal Award.

All persons having irregular claims unpaid have been notified of the irregularity. Some veterans seem to feel that service in the Armed forces anywhere during the Korean Conflict entitled them to receive this benefit, Johnson said.

He said that as of the present date, not more than 2 per cent of the total claims completely processed have been denied. However, there remain some 1,850 claims awaiting the receipt of further evidence which may raise that percentage slightly.

The administrator advised persons believing they may be entitled to the benefit of the Korean Veterans' Compensation Act to file claims at the earliest possible date while they may still be in possession of the necessary evidence required to support claims.

In Lake County, veterans should contact the Illinois Veterans' Commission office at 108 S. Genesee St., Waukegan, Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The Chicago Motor Club advises that any wiper blade that streaks or smears the windshield should be replaced unless the wiper arm can be adjusted to supply sufficient pressure for a clean, clear wipe. This is important during winter when driving visibility often is hampered by adverse weather conditions.

Good visibility is essential for safe driving. Before starting to drive make sure your front and rear windshields and side windows all are clear of obstructions. Make sure your windshield wipers and defrosters are in perfect mechanical condition. And always carry an ice scraper in your glove compartment. "Peephole" driving can be fatal.

How to give your car the best of care

Your car represents one of your most important investments. Treat it wisely by having a mechanic check it periodically for top running efficiency.

And don't forget to have your auto insurance program kept up-to-date, too! The right coverages can save you thousands of dollars if trouble strikes.

HOME FOR the holidays were Evelyn and Hazel Leno, famed duo-pianists of Lake Villa, who have just completed a concert tour of the eastern states. Shortly after the first of the year, the sisters will leave on a concert tour in Florida, Georgia, Washington, D.C., and Virginia. Doctors Give Go-Ahead to Draft Plans for Hospital

The way was cleared for drawing up of final plans for the proposed Countryside Hospital, in action taken recently by a conference in Lake Villa of physicians and surgeons from the townships of Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant and Avon.

The nine physicians in attendance were in virtual agreement on building proposals, according to Winthrop Lyman, building committee chairman. Suggested changes include lowering costs of features which might be included in the final operation but which, initially may be handled by outside agencies.

Suggested for postponement were such recommendations as basal metabolism test room, other technical laboratory facilities available at hospitals nearby, and the morgue and autopsy room. Other economies suggested were a smaller pharmacy, possible contracting for laundry rather than installing a plant; possible catering from outside rather than a hospital kitchen.

Doctors' recommendations include an increase in architect's proposal for eight bassinets, two delivery rooms instead of one; a room equipped for general minor surgery to include dental surgery, rather than a specialized room for dental surgery, in addition to minimum of two recommended major surgical operating rooms.

Hospital plans call for 50 beds in private and semi-private rooms with connecting bath and toilets, delivery suite, father's room, nursery, surgery suite and equipment, physical therapy room, six public health clinics and waiting room X-ray suite, pharmacy, administration rooms, staff lockers and toilet facilities, housekeeping facilities and kitchen.

Based on suggestions by doctors at the recent conference the architects will complete plans. On approval of these plans by the hospital association, architects will then construct a scale model and complete estimates on which the fund drive will be based.

Reporting on donations, secretary Jane Rundgren said that more than $9,000 has been given, with recent donors including South Shore Long Lake Improvement Association, $100 and patrons of Roy Klaus "52" Club, $58 to be spread over 52 weeks. Signs recording the drive are now up in Fox Lake and Lake Villa. Another is scheduled for Antioch, pending selection of a suitable site.

Hospital planning is under a board of 15 directors, now complete except for two members yet to be chosen.

Attends State Farm Meeting in Rockford

George J. Mazzuca, State Farm local agent in Antioch, attended a meeting at Rockford, Wednesday, one of 106 such gatherings held simultaneously throughout the United States and in Canada by his company.

Featured at the meeting was a closed circuit broadcast of a speech by Adlai H. Rust, chairman of the board of directors of the State Farm Insurance Companies. Rust predicted a growing economy for the decade and forecast continued growth in both human and automobile populations—and a resulting increase in need for insurance coverages.

Included in the audience, estimated at over 20,000, were agents, managers and other personnel of the State Farm Companies. Production

Flood Control Group Seeks Action in Fox River Area

Important phases of flood conditions of the Fox River area were discussed by members of the Flood Control Committee and newly elected Congressman Henry Schadeberg recently in the legislator's home in Burlington, Wis.

Paul Lohaus, Henry Reamer and

William Dombrow of the newly organized flood control committee, discussed the damage and hardship caused by Fox River floods to farmers and residents in the area.

Lohaus, adjudged Racine County's outstanding farmer last year, emphasized the untold loss through soil erosion caused by floods. Rising and receding of the river has washed away irreplaceable top soil, he said. As the river often rises in summer months, some crops have been completely washed away, it was pointed out.

Reamer, Silver Lake, discussed the damage of high waters from the point of health. "Contamination of drinking water is a scourge of flood waters," he said. "The danger of contamination to drinking water due to flood waters cannot be overlooked or minimized," he warned.

Dombrow, who with a committee in 1948 and 1950, worked with the late Cong. Lawrence Smith for flood control relief of the Fox River area, outlined proceedings followed at that time.

Dombrow pointed out that Cong.

Smith had been successful in getting Congress to appropriate $9,000 to finance a survey of the flood situation. A reconnaissance was made by the Corps of Engineers in 1950, but the Korean War brought an abrupt halt to control activities, he said.

At the close of the sessions, following examination of communications between Dombrow, Cong. Smith and the Corps of Engineers, Cong. Schadeberg promised to seek action to bring necessary flood control relief to this area.

He indicated he may attend hearings Jan. 24 in Elgin on flood control improvements on the Fox River and tributaries, called by the Corps of Engineers. The sessions will start at 10 a. m., Jan. 24, in the Elgin city courtroom.

In a plea for more concerted action on flood control, the committee urged similar committees be formed by residents of the Fox River areas in Lake and McHenry counties. According to Dombrow, they can obtain positive action by:

1-Petitioning selective United States Congressmen for flood control relief action, and—

2-Contacting respective Congressmen for joint action with Cong. Schadeberg, First Wisconsin District, for flood control improvement.

NWS Play Resumes After Tourney Setbacks

Sequoits Aim For Better Second Half

Fresh from holiday tournament play where all teams within the Northwest Suburban Conference suffered setbacks with the exception of Round Lake, who won consolation honors in Fenton High's invitational for the second straight year, NWS cage squads hit the practice trail hard this week in preparation for games tomorrow night that officially open the second half of league play.

Coach Larry Leon's Sequoits squared off practice sessions this week in hopes of breaking their losing streak tomorrow night when they journey to Round Lake to shoot for their second conference win in five games.

Each will be up for this one in an effort to escape the cellar, currently occupied by Antioch, Round Lake, Grayslake and Lake Forest with 1-3 records.

Ela-Vernon and a rising Wauconda club are currently tied for third with 2-2 records while Grant and Warren occupy the top berths with 4-0 records.

Interrupting a busy practice session last evening to sum up the conference situation, Coach Leon sizes it up as a two-way dog fight for honors between Grant and Warren, with Grant getting the nod because of its wide-open play. Warren is not to be discounted and will be in there all the way. Their wins haven't been as impressive to date as have those of Grant, but they have a knack of forging ahead and hanging on.

"Antioch is shooting for and expects to wind up in the first division," Coach Leon said. "But it will take a lot of hard work and more balanced scoring." He predicted a dog-fight between the lower-ranked six teams in the conference and figures the current standings will be scrambled after games this week-end.

If the Sequoits can smooth their play and come up with another Jerry Dahlman to pace Les Herbst, things will be looking up for Antioch.

Antioch High Drops Two At Bensenville

The Antioch Sequoits bounced off the holiday tournament trail at Fenton High in Bensenville last week by dropping two hard fought contests by almost identical scores. Coach Larry Leon's squad dropped its Wednesday night opener to a strong Palatine team, 66-48, and went down the following night 65-48 before the fast-breaking Willowbrook cagers.

Palatine's forward line of Seehausen, 6-2, Christensen 6-4 and Kozlicki 6-8, dominated the boards and spelled the difference. Martin, Herbst and Palenske, with 14, 12 and 10 points, respectively, were high for Antioch, while Kozlicki with 24 points, Seehausen 15 and Fabri 12, led scoring for Palatine.

In Thursday night's consolation battle, Antioch's cagers played sound, steady ball during the first half, trailing by a scant two points, 26-24 at the half. But Willowbrook gathered steam in the third and fourth quarters in two fast-breaking periods that left the Sequoits far behind.

Employing a zone defense in the first half, Antioch jumped into a 10-8 lead in the first quarter, but was outscored 18-14 in the second to trail at the half. Willowbrook took over in the third, fast-breaking to an early 42-32 lead, and then boomed forth a 23-point barrage in the fourth quarter to snow the Sequoits.

Les Herbst, was again the mainstay for Antioch, and with 19 points, took scoring honors for the evening. He was the only Sequoit who was able to score double figures, however.

Bill Ozga, with 6 points, played his best all-around game for Antioch, and was paced in scoring by Chuck Schuth, 7, and Denny Pogose, 6.

Borneman with 15 was high for Willowbrook, followed by Offell 14 and Langille 12.
